Portfolio advice- A portfolio's contents vary from person to person but you could include some of the following:

- Observational drawing – e.g. life drawing or work in sketchbooks. Your work should be of a personal nature, of good quality, and presented in sketchbooks or presentation sheets.
- 2 good, full sketchbooks – demonstrating generation of ideas, thoughts, drawings, experimentation, and influence of other artists.
- A gallery book / personal ideas book – show what you are interested in, demonstrate that you go to shows and exhibitions.
- Images of at least two completed projects or the completed project and the preparatory work that accompanies them (this could be in the form of a sketchbook).
- Evidence of other work completed in or out of school – photos, prints, painting, digital art keep it concise and thoughtful.
- Some evidence of written work e.g. analysis of artwork and artists in sketchbooks (word processed)
- Try to include a diverse range of media and techniques, don't just present one approach -e.g. all pen or pencil drawings

Presentation tips

- The layout of all your work needs to look professional and creative. Focus on detail to ensure a quality appearance.
- Pages should be laid out in a balanced and interesting way. If possible, keep the pages to the same size e.g. A2 or A1. Don't clutter pages with too much information. It is advisable to mount on white or off-white, avoid black. Also avoid layers of mounts behind work.
- Use a suitable adhesive to glue down work, avoid PVA as it tends to crinkle paper and can look messy.
- Clear the pockets of your folio: don't include loose drawings or bits and pieces that bear no relation to your main sheets.
- Type labels for sheets or clearly hand write them. Try to group work so that it relates and shows development.
- Select your best pieces: less is sometimes more, don't include anything that you wouldn't want to talk about or that is not your best work. Don't include sketchbooks with only a few used pages.
- Name label the outside of your folio.
- Include good photos of your 3d work.
- Include large photos or actual pieces of finished work. It is good to see that you can resolve ideas and carry things through. Including current work can also give you the opportunity to discuss your latest projects at interview.
- Include a few samples that demonstrate the use of digital art. These can be in your sketchbook.
- The best portfolios are personal, tidy and in a good order. It is better to have fewer well-thought-out sheets than many tatty examples.

Shortlisted applicants will be invited to attend an interview in person.

1) Please provide details of each of the sports you currently play and at which level i.e. A County/ Regional team.
